Join us, as we host a Guest Speaker Dr. David Russell along with Lehman College Professors Yavuz and Spence, to hear about two research studies that take distinct approaches to understanding the COVID-19 pandemic. Using qualitative interview data, Dr. Russell will share findings from an exploration of Long COVID illness experiences, and Prof. Spence will share findings on biographical disruptions resulting from Long COVID illness. Drs. Russell, Yavuz, and Spence will also discuss an ongoing quantitative research project analyzing the impacts of state capacity on COVID-19 vaccination rates around the world.
