WOMEN’S HISTORY MONTH PANEL 2015

The Women’s Studies Program
&
The Department of Political Science

Present an expert panel on

Gender-Based Violence: A Dialogue with First Responders to Sexual Assault in Our Community

The panel is composed of First Responders to Sexual Assault in Our Community. It is a dialogue among professionals who work together, through their different sectors, to serve survivors of sexual assault in their individual journeys to recovery. The dialogue will be candid and interactive, allowing students and faculty to (i) Learn about the pool of services and structures for survivors and their families (ii) Gain an understanding of institutional policy and practice for responding to survivors (iii) Identify social and political opportunities for increased community cooperation, professional partnerships and service to survivors.

Guest Speakers:

Elaine Garbaty, LCSW, Coordinator SATP, North Central Bronx Hospital
Deborah Hayashi, LCSW, Advocate Coordinator SATP, North Central Bronx Hospital
