4. Rationale (Explain how this change will impact the learning outcomes of the department and Major/Program):

The change in course description better represents the course as it focuses on gender more broadly, and not just women. Additionally, it removes the binary language of women/men that is out-of-date. Learning outcomes remain the same.

5. Date of departmental approval: February 5, 2024

3. Rationale:

This course has run as a special topics course (WST 345) over the last several years;

since it will continue to be offered on a regular basis it should have its own distinct course code. The class adds to the program's upper-level interdisciplinary electives in the social sciences.

4. Learning Outcomes (By the end of the course students will be expected to):

- Explain an advanced sociological understanding of gender
- Describe how gender structures and is structured by social, political and economic institutions
- Appraise current sociological scholarship on gender issues

5. Date of Departmental Approval: February 5, 2024
