

Counselor Education: School Counseling

Master of Science in Education

Lehman College offers a 60-credit, part-time, year-round, 3-year graduate program in Counselor Education: School Counseling leading to a Master of Science in Education degree. It is the first New York City Counselor Education/School Counseling program accredited by both the Council on the Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) and the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Programs (CAEP). Lehman is the only School Counseling program in the Bronx and lower Hudson Valley region with both accreditations. Graduates are eligible for School Counselor Certification in New York State. Program participants may also apply for the Bilingual Counselor Education/School Counseling Advanced Certificate.

M.S.Ed. COUNSELOR EDUCATION: SCHOOL COUNSELING MISSION:

The Lehman College Counselor Education: School Counseling program develops culturally competent, ethical, caring, data-informed professional school counselors in an urban educational framework. School counselor candidates promote social justice and human rights advocacy in their scholarly, clinical, assessment, evaluation, and school counseling program implementation practices. They develop academic, social-emotional, and career/college competencies for all students. School counselors help close achievement, opportunity, and attainment gaps. The Counselor Education: School Counseling program climate emphasizes collaboration, leadership, self-awareness, and mutual respect among diverse groups and includes anti-racist and anti-oppression practices in coursework and fieldwork.

ADMISSIONS REQUIREMENTS:

- Official transcripts from all prior undergraduate and graduate institutions
 - A completed bachelor's or master's degree from an accredited institution
 - A 3.0 (B average) grade point average
- At least two letters of recommendation evaluating applicant's potential as a school counselor from college faculty, K-12 school personnel, or a supervisor
- 2 essay questions assessing your reasons for becoming a professional school counselor and how will you ensure every student receives culturally and linguistically-responsive academic, career, college access/affordability, and social/emotional skills in an era of increased racism and COVID
- Resume
- Candidates satisfying admissions requirements are invited to a group interview process
- TOEFL for international applicants with an undergraduate degree in a language other than English
- Bilingual Advanced Certificate admission requires an application prior to December 1 in the third year of the program or post-graduation with a passing BEA exam score
