

Post-Colonial Truth-Telling

2015 Human Rights & Peace Studies Annual Conference

PANEL DISCUSSIONS

Katerina Stefatos
Hellenic Studies Program, Columbia University; Dept. of Anthropology, Lehman College, CUNY

Disciplining the female dissident: Gender Violence and Sexual Torture during the Greek Military Dictatorship (1967-1974)

Yazier Henry
Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy, University of Michigan

Negating Official Violence: Celebrating Injustice, Dominant Stories of Colonization and Continued Livelihoods of Oppression

Omolade Adunbi
Department of Afroamerican and African Studies; Program in the Environment, University of Michigan

Proclaiming Amnesty, Constructing Peace: Truth Telling, Oil Insurgency and the Silencing of Violence in Nigeria

Natasha Lycia Ora Bannan
President-Elect of the National Lawyers Guild; Associate Counsel at LatinoJustice PRLDEF

Vieques: U.S. Imperialism, Colonialism and a People's Movement

Irina Carlota (Lotti) Silber
Department of Anthropology, City College of New York, CUNY

In the After: Anthropological Reflections on Postwar El Salvador

Eben Kirksey
Committee for Interdisciplinary Science Studies, The Graduate Center, CUNY; Environmental Humanities, University of New South Wales

The Biak Tribunal: A Para-ethnographic Study of Justice

Victoria Sanford
Department of Anthropology and The Center for Human Rights and Peace Studies, Lehman College, CUNY

Challenging Impunity in Guatemala: From the Struggle for truth to Human Rights Prosecutions

Discussants:

Rebecca Root
Department of Political Science, Ramapo College of New Jersey

Chiseche Mbenge
Department of Political Science, Lehman College, CUNY

Sponsored by
Leonard Lief Library, Lehman College
Division of Humanities and Arts, CCNY
Center for Worker Education, CCNY
Department of Anthropology, Lehman College

May 13, 2015, 10am-2pm, East Dining Hall, Music Bldg.

free and open to the public • refreshments will be served