

Honors Convocation 2023

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31 | 6:00 PM

LEHMAN
COLLEGE

Message from the President

Fernando Delgado,
President

You have achieved College Latin Honors because you have distinguished yourselves, and not only as scholars, artists, and researchers. The pandemic, social and political unrest, and economic instability of the past few years have been challenging to say the least. Undoubtedly one or all of these things has had an impact on you and your college career. But whether it has taken four years, or longer than you expected, to reach this point, remember that your perseverance also distinguishes you. It is a testament to your strength of character, your focus, and your commitment to yourselves and your families.

In other words, you are a cohort of graduates who have aimed high to meet the rigorous demands of academia—and life in 21st century New York—head on, with grace and with grit. But I believe you already know that.

Some of you may also know this: Nothing is lost. Shoot for success, but remember that struggle, and even failure, can be great teachers. The trick is to recognize what these things can teach you. Sometimes it takes a week to see it, sometimes it takes a decade or more. This is what we in higher education call “lifelong learning.”

I went to college in the 20th century, and I didn’t weather a global pandemic. We had other social and political storms to navigate. However, as a first-generation college student, I do see some of myself in all of you. You make me proud to lead this institution, and proud of what all students at Lehman College have accomplished, especially in the face of daunting circumstances.

Your achievement is proof that we are hitting the mark, cultivating success in our students, and in our alumni, as they go on to build careers, raise families, create art, advance scientific knowledge, care for others, and explore the world.

Congratulations on reaching this significant moment in your academic and personal journey. Keep learning, keep aiming high. Here's to many more achievements in the years to come.

Message from the Provost

Peter O. Nwosu,
Provost and Senior
Vice President for Academic Affairs and Student Success

It is no small achievement to graduate with honors. During the course of your study you weathered chaotic global events, which most of us had never faced before, and discovered in a very real way that the future is always somewhat uncertain. However, your commitment to excellence, and all that it requires, has created a strong foundation from which to move forward.

Your accomplishments are not only academic: they reflect of all the challenges you have faced—and may continue to face—whether these have been painful, frightening, or invigorating. Experiences that help us grow usually conjure all of these feelings.

Now you are here, ready to go forward in the midst of lingering uncertainty. We know the challenges of the past few years are not over. Some may be familiar, and some will be new—but challenging situations are never in short order. Rising to them with confidence is the actual challenge. Determination to see things through—whatever the outcome—and seeing them through, is the real accomplishment. When you recognize your strengths, and even your weaknesses, and trust your instincts, that's your Lehman education at work.

I congratulate you on your academic achievement—and celebrate it with you! I also ask each of you to reflect on the confidence, determination, and self-knowledge you have developed here as a Lehman student. These are the unquantifiable aspects of a true education, and they will always enable you to excel.

Honors Convocation

Dr. Victor M. Brown,
Associate Provost for Academic Programs and Educational Effectiveness

A Celebration of Accomplishment

It is with great pleasure that I extend my warmest congratulations to you all on achieving this incredible academic milestone. Your hard work, dedication, and perseverance have paid off, and you should be immensely proud of your accomplishments.

Earning Latin Honors is not an easy feat and requires a tremendous amount of effort and commitment. You have demonstrated exceptional academic excellence, and your achievements are a testament to your intellectual abilities and determination. Your success is a source of inspiration and motivation for others, and I have no doubt that you will continue to excel in your future endeavors.

As you move forward in your academic and professional careers, remember that this achievement is just the beginning. You have developed essential skills and knowledge that will serve you well in any field you choose to pursue. Use your experience as a foundation for continued growth and success, and never stop striving for excellence.

Once again, congratulations on this outstanding triumph, and best of luck in all your future endeavors.

Adjunct of the Year

James Gaine,
Department of Mathematics,
School of Natural and Social Sciences

James Gaine

Throughout our academic journey, we have learned that what initially appears to be a bitter lesson can, in fact, become the greatest educational tool. "Accept failure and learn from it" is a crucial aspect of personal and professional growth. It is essential to differentiate between failure and mistakes; as Latin Honor students, you have demonstrated an exceptional ability to avoid the latter.

Many young professionals often ask, "What distinguishes the good from the great?" The answer is simple: be honest with yourself about what you have learned from your mistakes. Embrace new ways of thinking, be creative, and think outside the box.

In the high-stakes game of life, nothing is more revealing than individuals who cannot admit their mistakes. Playing it safe rarely leads to great innovation. Billionaire Mark Cuban was a failed bartender. George Lucas directed a movie flop, THX 1138, which came with a great financial loss; he later directed the Star Wars trilogy. Michael Jordan missed over 9,000 shots with 26 being for the win and is still considered by many, the greatest NBA player.

Therefore, I urge you to take risks, learn from your failures, and embrace your mistakes. It is through these experiences that we grow, learn, and achieve greatness.

Once again, thank you for joining us today, and congratulations to all the Latin Honor students for your remarkable achievements.

Congratulations!

Latin Honors at Lehman College

College honors or “Latin honors” represent exceptionally high academic achievements, with the use of Latin providing a sense of ancient tradition and authority. In the United States, Latin honors are specifically for bachelors’ degrees.

At Lehman, these honors are distinguished by the Latin phrases:

Cum laude, “with praise,” awarded to students with a GPA of 3.5-3.74

Magna cum laude, “with great praise,” awarded to students with a GPA of 3.75-3.84

Summa cum laude, “with highest praise,” awarded to students with a GPA of 3.85-4.0

These are prestigious accomplishments, and represent not only past achievements, but the potential for tremendous future success.

Latin Honors Cords

Latin Honors Cords Colors and Meanings

At Lehman College, the modern tradition of honors cords’ three different colors represent the three levels of Latin honors:

Cum Laude

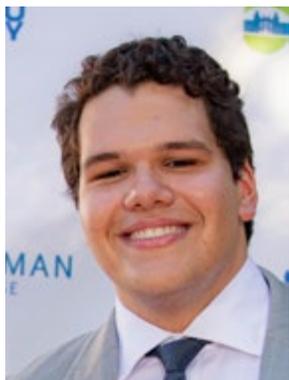

Magna Cum Laude

Summa Cum Laude

Student Government President

John Soto

Student Government President 2022-23

School of Natural and Social Sciences

Biological Sciences

You have excelled in the classrooms, demonstrated intellectual curiosity, and embraced the challenges that came your way. We honor not only your academic achievements, but the character and resilience that have shaped your remarkable success.

Throughout your time at Lehman, your enduring determination, late nights in the library, and the sacrifices you have made have paved the way for this momentous day. This honor you have received today has come “sua sponte”, as the Army Rangers say, of your own accord, voluntarily.

As we bestow upon you prestigious Latin honors, we acknowledge your embodiment of the scholarly achievement you have become. These honors are not merely symbols of your academic prowess, but a testament to your steadfast commitment to excellence in every facet of your education.

As the Provost mentioned previously, let us not forget that behind every extraordinary graduate stands a community of ardent supporters. To the esteemed faculty and staff, whose guidance and mentorship have been invaluable, we extend our deepest gratitude. You have fostered an environment of intellectual growth, challenged us to think critically, and inspired us to reach for the stars.

To the proud parents, family members, and friends who have stood by your side throughout this incredible journey, tonight is a testament to your unconditional love, your perpetual belief, and your endless encouragement. Your attendance here tonight speaks volumes about the foundation of support that has nurtured these outstanding individuals. Please give them a round of applause.

Honored graduates, as you move forward into the world beyond these cherished halls, carry with you the torch of knowledge that has been ignited within you. Embrace the challenges that lie ahead with the same passion and perseverance that has brought you here today. Be bold in your pursuits, compassionate in your actions, and relentless on your road to excellence. Remember that true success is not merely measured by titles, or by accolades, but by the impact you make on the lives of others and the difference you bring to this world. May your journey beyond Lehman College be filled with wisdom, contentment, and endless opportunities to make that positive and lasting impact.

Congratulations, distinguished graduates. You are the change-makers of tomorrow; however, when changing tomorrow, remember this: Progress is not convenient, progress is not easy, progress is not linear, and progress is not inevitable, but it's up to you to create it. May you continue to shine brightly and leave an indelible mark on this world.

Congratulations, Class of 2023!

Undergraduate Awards

Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Studies

2023 Winner: Hanna Rosenstock

This award is given to a student who has demonstrated excellence in being educated, empowered and engaged in their academic studies. The recipient has demonstrated outstanding academic achievement by graduating summa cum laude with a 4.0 GPA, and also has excelled in disciplinary and/or co-curricular activities related to their major, thus modeling excellence as an empowered young scholar who shows engagement in their discipline.

This year's Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Studies goes to Hanna Rosenstock. The committee was especially impressed by Hanna's substantive and cutting-edge research and by her commitment to supporting not only other students in her department, but also high school students. Hanna is tutoring in the U RISE program and has been working with high school students with IEPs.

The Global Citizenship Award

2023 Winner: Jacqueline Koranteng

This award is given to a student who has exemplified global citizenship and service during their time at Lehman College. This student has embraced unique and creative ways to engage with communities across the globe in areas including, but not limited to, study abroad, international service-learning, global studies, and Peace Corps Prep.

This year's winner is Jacqueline Koranteng a Nursing major with a minor in African American Studies, who has exemplified global citizenship and service during her time at Lehman College. Jacqueline has volunteered and engaged with many organizations both locally and internationally, including fundraising for organizations such as Women's Housing and Economic Development Corporation (WHEDco) and participating in events such as the AIDS walk and the ALS walk. She has also dedicated effort to study and service abroad. In the summer of 2019, through Lehman College, Jacqueline studied abroad in the UK, where she immersed herself in her academic work in addition the culture and traditions of the Great Britain. Beyond her formal studies, Jacqueline also supports community organizations in Ghana through donations and other service activities. Through these endeavors, Jacqueline has continuously demonstrated commitment to and passion for community engagement both locally and globally.

Excellence in Leadership Award

2023 Winner: Patricia Mac Donna

This award recognizes a student who has shown outstanding leadership during his or her time at Lehman College. Through innovation, motivation, initiative, and perseverance, this person has demonstrated a commitment to creating positive change in our campus community.

This year's winner is Patricia Mac Donna. Patricia was elected by Lehman College students to serve as a senator in student government. Her main campaign goal was to raise awareness of food insecurity on campus and make resources available to students. She started working at the Student Life Building as a CUNY Edge student during her bachelor's degree and quickly started doing over her work hours, volunteering to serve students, being a mentor at the Leadership Center and then serving as the student coordinator of the Lehman Food Bank. Any opportunity she got, she advocated for resources for students. Patricia practiced an Altruistic, Servant Leadership style and believed in service to her campus and Bronx community. When she was not serving and mentoring students on campus, she volunteered at her church and a local Bronx homeless shelter. As an adult student, she has motivated her children in the same culture of service and her son will also be graduating from Lehman this year. He has recently served in the United States army.

Lehman College's 2023 Honors Convocation was made possible thanks to the dedicated efforts all Divisions, Schools, and Departments to achieve an event of this magnitude. The hard work, dedication, and commitment to excellence from Lehman College staff and faculty have made the event truly special and memorable occasion.

NOTICE: The students included in the Honors Booklet were invited to participate in the 2023 Honors Convocation if they met the Latin Honors Eligibility and Criteria and applied for graduation by the deadline. Eligibility was based on the student having completed at least 50 indexable credits in residence at Lehman College, with a minimum cumulative index of 3.5 or above for the Fall 2022 semester. Second degree students are not eligible.

Students who registered LATE for the Honors Convocation, do not have their picture, Academic/Professional Plans, or their Special Thanks/Shout-out included in the booklet
